2.2 Information whether the activity of the Issuer requires a permit, licence or approval, and if so, then in addition the scope and number of the permit, licence or approval and the name of the authority which issued it

The core business of the Group is primarily concentrated across the CEE Region, including but not limited to Hungary, Poland, Croatia and Slovakia. The Group's operations encompass, among others, refinery and petrochemical products, as well as crude oil extraction.

Furthermore, the Group holds all concessions, permits, licences, and approvals required under applicable laws in areas including, but not limited to, environmental protection, infrastructure, safety, technology, and taxation in connection with its core business.

3. RISK FACTORS

In purchasing Bonds, investors assume the risk that the Issuer may become insolvent or otherwise be unable to make all payments due in respect of the Bonds. There is a wide range of factors which individually or together could result in the Issuer becoming unable to make all payments due. It is not possible to identify all such factors or to determine which factors are most likely to occur, as the Issuer may not be aware of all relevant factors and certain factors which they currently deem not to be material may become material as a result of the occurrence of events outside the Issuer's control. The Issuer has identified in this Information Note a number of factors which could materially adversely affect its respective businesses and ability to make payments due.

In addition, factors which are material for the purpose of assessing the market risks associated with Bonds issued under the Programme are also described below.

3.1 Risks related to the Group's business in the oil and gas industry

Risks related to climate change, including the decline in demand for fossil fuel and policy changes, and the increased focus by regulators on greenhouse gas emissions, all of which may have an adverse effect on the Group's revenues or costs

The Group is exposed to transitional and physical climate related risks in connection with the shift to a low carbon economy, which have the potential to impact negatively the financial performance of the Group. In connection with this shift there is an increased focus by global, regional and national regulators on climate change and greenhouse gas emissions, including CO₂ emissions, which may result in additional policy measures and regulation designed to address the direct and indirect impacts on climate change of companies operating in the oil and gas industry. Such measures could increase or accelerate the need for investment, which may lead to increased costs to the Group.

Transition risks include: market risks (e.g. changing consumer behaviour and decreasing demand for fossil fuels affecting refinery output and retail sales); policy and legal risks (e.g. the ban of single use plastics affecting the petrochemical sector, obligations on energy efficiency and renewable energy usage, EU taxonomy regulations affecting access to and the cost of capital, and carbon tax; (for further details on such regulatory changes please see "Changes to the legal and regulatory framework in which the Group operates could negatively impact its business, financial condition and results of operations")), technology and market risks (e.g. increasing electrification of transportation affecting demand for fuels) and reputational risks (e.g. inability to attract future workforce). Investor and stakeholder attitudes to environmental and climate issues may also change, and this may lead to a reduced interest in the Group's business, more limited access to funding and may result in adverse reputational consequences for the Group.

Physical climate related risks include both chronic risks (e.g. depleting water resources affecting the facilities of the exploration and production or the Upstream Segment, drying rivers affecting the Downstream Segment and rising sea levels affecting the Group's coastal refinery); and acute risks (e.g. extreme weather events such as heavy rainfall or high winds affecting all facilities or fluctuating water level on the Danube hindering barge transport). Such increased extreme weather events and changing climatic conditions may impact the Group's infrastructure, compromising its distribution networks, damaging or restricting access to or functionality of its other facilities, including IT systems, or the operations of one or more of its third-party suppliers. Failure to adapt to both transitional and physical climate related risks may result in negative financial impacts to the Group in the form of decreasing revenues, increasing costs and liabilities, physical asset damage, disruption to operations, a rise in the cost of financing and constrained access to capital markets.

In addition, companies operating in the oil and gas industry are facing increasing demands and social and environmental pressures to clarify what the implications of energy transition could be for their operations and business models, and to explain how they can contribute to reducing greenhouse gas emissions and to achieving the goals of the Paris Agreement (the universal, legally binding global climate change agreement, adopted at the Paris climate conference in December 2015, setting out a global framework to avoid dangerous climate change and to strengthen countries' ability to deal with the impacts of climate change) and the targets set by the EU in its "Fit for 55" package.

The global transportation sector is the largest energy consuming sector and accounts for approximately one third of the world's total energy distribution. The sector is currently responsible for just over half of oil demand in the world. Within this sector, road vehicles dominate oil consumption and represent the substantial majority of the total energy demand.

As hybrid and purely electric technology gains momentum and internal combustion engines are forced to become increasingly fuel efficient by regulation, the Group's oil product sales are inevitably affected. As at the date of this Information Note, middle distillates and gasoline sales make up a significant portion of total oil product sales, concentrating the Group's exposure to a large extent to the transition of the transportation sector.

The Group has already announced that it is making preparations for an expected decline in motor fuel consumption and has developed an investment plan to diversify away from fuel production as part of its long-term strategy. As specified in the MOL 2030+ Strategy, the Issuer aims to invest significantly in sustainable and low-carbon activities like waste integration and utilisation, advanced biofuel production and green hydrogen production, carbon capture, utilisation and storage technologies while also gradually diverting fuel away from final consumption in transport to be used as feedstock in its integrated petrochemical business. However, a faster-than-expected decline in fuel demand as a result of more aggressive environmental policies and regulation supported by a change in customer behaviour could mean that the degree and timing of planned diversification by the Group could become insufficient to generate expected earnings.

While the Group continues to invest toward meeting its sustainability targets, it may, nevertheless, be perceived either by regulatory authorities or the public to have not met certain sustainability goals or to have met goals that are not considered sufficient to mitigate the perceived impact of its operations. In addition, the significant costs associated with such investments may prevent the Group from pursuing other attractive strategic business opportunities. Accordingly, the occurrence of any of the foregoing risks could limit the Group's operational flexibility, increase costs and therefore could have a material adverse effect on the Group's reputation, business, financial condition, results of operations and prospects.

The Group is subject to operational risks including physical asset risks prevalent in the oil and gas industry

The Group's business operations, like those of other oil and gas companies, refineries and petrochemical companies, may be adversely affected by numerous factors, including fires, explosions, blowouts, reservoir damage, loss of well control, discharges of gases and toxic chemicals, the breakdown or failure of equipment or processes, performance below expected levels of output or efficiency, labour disputes, natural disasters, weather conditions, terrorist attacks, sabotage, interruption or closure, IT failures, breaches of cyber security, epidemic diseases and other risks. These can result in personal injuries, loss of life, property and environmental damage and delays to, or loss of, production and third-party liabilities. High asset concentration in the Downstream Segment is a significant risk and could materially impact on the Group's operations.

The Group maintains property damage, business interruption and combined general liability insurance policies with market standard terms and conditions. In line with industry practice and insurance market capacity, the limits of the Group's insurance policies cover the majority of potential losses, but there still remains a residual risk of losses that could exceed the policy limit. The limits of the Group's insurance policies are in line with the market practice.

Insurance coverage is maintained to the insurance limit or the sum insured. Therefore, the risk that remains with the Group is for losses up to the amount of the deductible(s) and loss amounts exceeding the policy limits. To the extent that the Group incurs losses which are not covered by insurance or are below the relevant excess amount, the costs of such losses would generally need to be met by the Group from its own resources, consequently increasing the Group's cost base and negatively impacting the Group's business, financial condition and results of operations which in turn may affect the Issuer's ability to fulfil its obligations under the Bonds.

As at the date of this Information Note, the Group maintains insurance arrangements which are subject to certain deductibles and waiting periods. In respect of property damage losses resulting from a single occurrence, the applicable deductibles vary depending on the relevant business segment and asset class, with differing levels applying to the Downstream Segment and pipelines (including a separate, lower deductible for the Rijeka Refinery) and to Upstream onshore and offshore assets. In respect of losses arising from third party liabilities, the Group is subject to a separate deductible. In respect of business interruption coverage, applicable waiting periods apply in the case of Downstream Segment assets, and in respect of loss of production income coverage, waiting periods of varying lengths apply in the case of insured Upstream Segment assets, with certain INA North Adriatic platforms being subject to a longer waiting period.

Each year, the Group determines the appropriate insurance policy limits and sums insured, taking into account its risk retention capacity.

The Group may be subject to significant environmental liabilities

The Group's operations, which are often potentially hazardous, are subject to the risk of liabilities arising from previous and current environmental pollution and the cost of any associated remedial work. The Group has insurance to cover the risk of sudden and accidental environmental pollution. While the Group is of the view that this insurance is of sufficient size and that it is in accordance with industry standards, there is a risk that the Group could incur environmental liabilities which exceed the amount that it is insured for and, if any such excess were to be material, this may have a material adverse effect on the financial position of the Group.

The Group needs to strike an appropriate balance between the need to access and develop energy resources and the need to protect the natural environments in each of its operating geographies. An inability to balance this perceived trade-off could damage the image and reputation of the Group with the public and relevant governments, and governmental authorities, which could impact upon the Group's future business prospects.

The Group undertakes transportation of oil and gas, as well as related products as part of its business activities. All modes of transporting, refining and storing hydrocarbons carry inherent risks, with containment failures potentially occurring during transportation by road, rail, sea or pipeline, during storing or in the production process. The release of hazardous materials could pose serious environmental and social risks given the high volumes of materials involved.

As of 31 December 2025, provision of HUF 75,177 million (approximately PLN 910 million) has been made for the estimated cost of remediation of past environmental damages, primarily soil and groundwater contamination and disposal of hazardous wastes, such as acid tar, in Hungary, Croatia, Slovakia, Romania and Italy. The provision is made on the basis of assessments prepared by Group's internal environmental expert team. The amount of the provision has been determined on the basis of existing technology at current prices by calculating risk-weighted cash flows for a period up to 12 years, or up to 50 years in the case of the Upstream Segment, discounted using estimated risk-free real interest rates. The amount reported as at 31 December 2025 also includes a contingent liability of HUF 19,469 million (approximately PLN 240 million) recognised upon acquiring IES S.p.A.

Although management believes that these provisions are sufficient to satisfy the relevant obligations of the Group to the extent that the related costs are reasonably predictable, future regulatory developments or differences between known environmental conditions and actual conditions could cause a revaluation of these estimates. There are certain Group sites which may be affected by contamination, but the cost of remedial work is not yet quantifiable as at the date of this Information Note. The main areas where such contingent liabilities may exist are the assets of INA, the industrial site in Sisak and refinery in Rijeka (Croatia), the Croatian retail and logistic network, as well as damage at certain sites of the Upstream Segment. If liabilities for environmental damage were to significantly exceed the amount provided for, there could be a material adverse effect on the financial condition of the Group which in turn may affect the Issuer's ability to fulfil its obligations under the Bonds.

Estimates of the Group's crude oil and natural gas reserves are subject to uncertainties and incorrect estimations could negatively impact the Group

There are a number of uncertainties inherent in estimating quantities of proven reserves, projecting future rates of production and the timing of development expenditures, including numerous factors which are beyond the producers' control. Reserve estimates are highly dependent on the accuracy of the assumptions upon which they were based, the quality of the information available and the ability to verify such information against industry standards. In addition, results of drilling, testing and production subsequent to the date of an estimate may require revision of any such estimate. Accordingly, reserve estimates may be materially different from the quantities of crude oil and natural gas that are ultimately recovered and, if recovered, the revenue from and the costs related thereto could be more or less than the estimated amounts. Such data contains estimates and the figures provided should not be considered as exact.

Any over-estimation of reserves may result in lower than expected or negative returns on investment which in turn could have a material adverse effect on the Group's business, financial condition and results of operations and may affect the Issuer's ability to fulfil its obligations under the Bonds.

A higher than expected decline in hydrocarbon production and failure to replace reserves may have a material adverse effect on the Group

The Group has matured fields in its Upstream Segment portfolio in Hungary and Croatia where production has been declining. If the rate of decline in production is greater than expected, and/or the production optimisation programmes are not as successful as expected, or inorganic steps (such as asset purchases or acquisitions) are not successful, the EBITDA of the Group generated by the Upstream Segment could significantly deteriorate. This may have a material adverse effect on the Group's business, financial condition and results of operations, which in turn may affect the Issuer's ability to fulfil its obligations under the Bonds.

A sustained disruption in crude oil supply could have a material adverse effect on the Group's business

The Group purchases pipeline crude oil on the basis of long-term and annual agreements from the resources of different Russian producers via the Friendship-II pipeline, which runs between Russia and Hungary through Ukraine, as well as seaborne crude oil via the Adria pipeline. Any disruption to these pipelines, including any potential crude contamination, could have a material adverse impact on production volumes and the Group's business, financial condition and results of operations.

Russian crude oil supplies to Hungary via the southern branch of the Friendship-II pipeline were suspended for short periods in 2022 for various reasons related to the Russia-Ukraine war. The EU has banned transactions involving Russian state-owned entities, including Transneft which is the operator of the Friendship-II-pipeline. Although such sanctions do not apply to the import or transport of oil via pipeline, as well as gas into Europe and currently there is no fixed end date to this exemption, however the scope of these sanctions restrictions could potentially change in the future, and these business arrangements could create sanctions risk in the future. The Group's refining business is dependent on the physical flow of crude oil through the transportation system in Russia and Ukraine. The EU has imposed a partial embargo on Russian crude oil imports as of 5 December 2022 and on Russian petroleum product imports as of 5 February 2023. At the same time, a ban on the export of petroleum products produced from Russian crude oil also entered into force. However, the regulations allow for the continued import of Russian crude oil via the pipeline, including to Hungary and Slovakia, and the continued export of petroleum products produced from Russian crude oil from Hungary and Slovakia for an indefinite period, provided that the percentage of exports does not exceed the percentage of non-Russian crude oil when blended with Russian crude oil as a refinery feedstock. The 16th sanctions package, adopted by the EU in February 2025, allows Hungary and Slovakia to freely trade refined products produced from Russian crude oil between them.

On 27 January 2026, crude oil deliveries to Hungary and Slovakia via the southern branch of the Friendship-II pipeline were suspended following damage to the pipeline reportedly caused by acts of war in Ukraine. To make up for the shortfall, the Issuer supplied its refineries with seaborne crude oil and initiated the release of strategic oil reserves in both countries. This did not result in any threat to fuel supplies and the market was served without disruption. The crude oil deliveries on the Friendship-II pipeline were restarted on 22 April 2026. There can be no assurance that similar disruptions to pipeline infrastructure will not recur in the future, which could affect the Group's business, financial condition, results of operations and prospects.

For its own production and supply needs, the Group also uses pipelines which are owned and operated by third parties. For example, INA obtains its crude oil from domestic production or from the Adria pipeline. This pipeline is owned and operated by Janaf Plc, a company majority owned by the Croatian state. A failure by third parties to maintain or sufficiently increase the capacity of their pipelines, breakdowns and leakages, or specific court or other legal actions to limit the Group's access to the system, could require the Group to utilise more expensive alternative export or import routes that could result in a decline in profit margins. In addition to the risk of war damage in Ukraine, increased repairs and maintenance of pipelines could be required where a pipeline passes through areas with a harsh climate, such as Russia. Any sustained disruption in supply, uncertainty of availability or deterioration of the physical condition of the pipeline system and changes in governmental policy on access to the pipelines could affect the Group's ability to sell oil from exploration or to acquire oil as well as product feedstock at the most economic rates for the Group's refineries. This could have a material adverse effect on the Group's business, results of operations or financial condition and may affect the Issuer's ability to fulfil its obligations under the Bonds.

3.2 Risks related to the markets in which the Group operates

Fluctuations in crude oil and natural gas prices may adversely affect the Group's business

The Group is exposed to commodity price risk on both the purchasing side and the sales side. The main commodity risks stem from its long positions in crude oil, Refining Margins and petrochemical margins.

In line with industry practice, the Group conducts all crude oil and natural gas purchases, as well as all sales of refined and petrochemical products under agreements at spot prices, indexed to internationally recognised benchmark prices or structured using derivative-based pricing linked to those benchmarks. Such prices may fluctuate widely in response to changes in many factors over which the Group has no control. Historically, international crude oil and natural gas prices have fluctuated widely. A material decline in the price of crude oil or natural gas for a sustained period would have a material adverse effect on the Group's results of operations and the value of its reserves estimates.

Macroeconomic, geopolitical and technological uncertainties can affect certain production costs and demand for the Group's products. Government actions may affect the Group's product sale and purchase agreements as well as the prices of crude oil, natural gas and petrochemical products, especially if governments promote the sale of lower-carbon electric vehicles or prohibit future sales of new diesel or gasoline vehicles. Factors that influence supply and demand include operational issues, natural disasters, weather, conflicts such as the Russia-Ukraine war, conflicts in the Middle East, pandemics, political instability, economic conditions, including inflation, and actions by major oil and gas producing countries.

As at the date of this Information Note, it is not foreseeable whether and in which way international cartels or leading oil-producing states will adjust crude oil production levels according to actual market demand and, accordingly, influence prices. Furthermore, lower crude oil and natural gas prices may also reduce the amount of oil and natural gas that the Group can produce economically or reduce the economic viability of projects planned or in development and may have a material adverse effect on the Group's business, results of operations and financial condition.

Furthermore, rapid material and/or sustained changes in crude oil, gas, CO₂ emissions quota, electricity and petroleum product prices can impact the validity of the assumptions on which strategic decisions are based and, as a result, the ensuing actions derived from those decisions may no longer be appropriate.

A prolonged period of low prices may necessitate a review for impairment of the Group's oil and natural gas properties. Such a review would reflect management's view of long-term depressed oil and natural gas prices, and any impairment charges incurred as a result could have a significant effect on the Group's results of operations, for the period in which it occurs which in turn may affect the Issuer's ability to fulfil its obligations under the Bonds.

A decline in refining and petrochemical margins may adversely affect the Group's business, prospects, financial condition or results of operations

The operating results of the Group's refining business depend largely on the Refining Margin. The cost to acquire feedstock and the prices at which the Group can ultimately sell refined products depends on a variety of factors beyond its control. Although an increase or decrease in the price of crude oil generally results in a corresponding increase or decrease in the price of the majority of refined products, changes in the prices of refined products generally lag behind upward and downward changes in crude oil prices. As a result, a rapid and significant increase in the market price for crude oil has an adverse impact on Refining Margins. A prolonged reduction in Refining Margins could have a material adverse effect on the Group's business, results of operations or financial condition.

In addition, the commissioning of more complex and more competitive refineries in the U.S. and the Middle East has put Europe in a vulnerable position since additional import volumes of diesel have pushed Crack Spreads. Should this lower diesel crack environment persist, especially given the "anti-diesel" market sentiment and stricter EU regulation, it may negatively impact the Group's profitability. Although gasoline Crack Spreads have performed better historically compared to diesel Crack Spreads (due to high global demand growth mainly driven by the U.S. and Asia), the Group does not expect that this trend will continue in the future due to refinery capacity additions and shrinking export markets. Global competition for gasoline outlets could increase, which may negatively affect European Crack Spreads and as a result may have a negative impact on the Group's business, results of operations or financial condition. This in turn may affect the Issuer's ability to fulfil its obligations under the Bonds.

3.3 Risks related to the Group's ordinary course of operations

Pandemics may have a material adverse effect on the Group's business results of operations or financial condition

The economies of the countries in which the Group operates have been negatively affected by the COVID-19 pandemic and might, in the future, be negatively affected by any other outbreak of any contagious disease. The potential impacts of any contagious disease which may result in a global, regional or other economic recession, are uncertain and difficult to assess. The Group cannot give any assurance that any contagious disease or pandemic will not arise in the future.

The overall impact of any pandemic on the Group's business will depend on a range of factors which it is not possible to predict accurately, including the duration, severity, potential recurrence and scope of the pandemic and the extensiveness of measures adopted by governments. It is possible that any pandemic will cause a prolonged global economic crisis or recession, which could have a negative impact on the Hungarian economy in general and the Group's industry and business in particular. To the extent any pandemic adversely affects the Group's business and financial results, it may also have the effect of heightening many of the other risks described in this Information Note.

The Group is exposed to cyber risk in the ordinary course of its operations

The oil and gas industry is a valuable target for cyber-criminals seeking to exploit ICS environments. The number of attacks against ICS overall is increasing as cyber-criminals with specific interest in oil and gas companies remain active and are evolving their behaviours. The frequency, sophistication and intensity of cyber-attacks and cyber-related incidents have continued to increase globally and across the energy sector in particular.

The Group is exposed to cyber risk which means the risk of financial loss, disruption or damage to the reputation of an organisation from a failure of its information technology systems. Such risk can be generated by government agencies, organised criminal gangs or disgruntled employees who could potentially harm the Group's industrial network and process control network and thereby damage confidentiality, integrity and availability of systems or disrupt processes. Such damage could cause reputational damage to the Group and cause disruptions in its operations leading to loss. The Group created a cyber security strategy (for the period 2020 to 2030) to address the growing cyber threat. Based on the predictions of the Group's cyber security department, increased targeted spear-phishing campaigns and compromised privileges continue to be the major cause of data breaches. The top cloud suppliers may suffer breaches, which could compromise sensitive information of major companies (such as the Issuer) stored with them, as there is an ever-increasing number of hacking tools available to cyber-criminals which are designed to attack critical infrastructure elements. In addition, the rapid advancement of artificial intelligence technologies have introduced a new and evolving dimension to the global cybersecurity threat landscape. AI-enabled tools are being leveraged by threat actors to enhance the scale, speed and precision of cyber-attacks, including through automated vulnerability scanning, adaptive malware, deepfake-enabled social engineering and the circumvention of conventional cybersecurity defences.

The Group has implemented various policies, procedures, and controls to protect its information and systems from cyber security incidents or breaches, and to detect, respond to, and recover from such incidents or breaches. Although in 2025 there was no major cyber security incident the Group cannot guarantee that its cyber security measures will be sufficient or effective to prevent or mitigate all cyber security incidents or breaches in the future.

Whilst the Group continuously monitors the external regulatory environment related to data privacy, network security and national critical infrastructure elements, there can be no assurances that such policies and procedures will be effective in eliminating cyber risk or the potential losses arising therefrom.

The Group is subject to risks relating to data protection and privacy

The Group processes significant volumes of personal data relating to its customers, employees and other individuals as part of its business operations, some of which may be classified as sensitive personal data under applicable legislation. The Group is therefore required to comply with strict data protection and privacy laws and regulations in the jurisdictions in which it operates, including GDPR, and applicable national legislation. These laws and regulations impose comprehensive obligations on the Group regarding the collection, storage, use, disclosure and other processing of personal data. Any failure by the Group to comply with such obligations, whether as a result of human error, system failures, inadequate internal processes or otherwise, could result in regulatory investigations, enforcement actions and financial penalties.

Although the Group has implemented data protection policies and procedures to ensure compliance with applicable data protection and privacy laws, there can be no assurance that such measures will be sufficient to prevent all data breaches or instances of non-compliance. The Group's operations involve complex data processing activities across multiple jurisdictions, and the effectiveness of its controls is dependent on, among other things, ongoing employee awareness and training, the reliability of its information technology systems and the conduct of third-party service providers who may process personal data on its behalf. A failure in any of these areas could expose the Group to regulatory sanctions, legal claims and reputational damage notwithstanding the existence of such policies and safeguards. The regulatory landscape in relation to data protection and privacy continues to evolve and become more stringent, which may require the Group to incur additional compliance costs or modify its business practices.

The inability to attract, train or retain qualified personnel could jeopardise the human capital of the Group and have a material adverse effect on the Group's business, financial condition and results of operations

The Group's ability to implement its strategy is dependent on the capabilities and performance of its key management and technical personnel. Significant loss of critical and key personnel, including as a result of an aging workforce or the inability to attract, train or retain appropriately qualified personnel (in particular for technical positions where availability of appropriately qualified personnel may be limited, especially blue-collar site workers) could have a significant material adverse effect on the Group's business, financial condition and results of operations which in turn may affect the Issuer's ability to fulfil its obligations under the Bonds.

The Group has launched several human capital programmes, including, but not limited to knowledge exchange and mentoring programs, as well as dual education opportunities combining work based learning by way of apprenticeships or similar and vocational education. However, these programmes may not achieve the desired outcomes which can have an adverse effect on the Group's workforce.

The Group is exposed to a risk of failure to comply with applicable quality standards

The Group is subject to risks resulting from potential non-compliance with quality standards, including standards on product quality, fuel bio content, health, safety and environmental and energy management. Supplying customers with on-specification products is critical to maintaining the Group's various required licences to operate. Failure by the Group to meet quality standards could lead to harm to people, third-party property and the environment, could adversely affect the Group's reputation, and may result in regulatory action and legal liability. This in turn could have a significant material adverse effect on the Group's business, financial condition and results of operations which in turn may affect the Issuer's ability to fulfil its obligations under the Bonds.

3.4 Risks related to the legal, regulatory and political environment in which the Group operates

Risks associated with the development of the Russia-Ukraine war

Russia began its invasion of Ukraine on 24 February 2022, targeting key military and civilian facilities throughout the country. As at the date of this Information Note, the economic impact may continue to affect the Group in the future, although it is difficult to predict the overall and full extent of the impact of the military conflict between Russia and Ukraine on the Group's operations. Depending on how the military conflict between Russia and Ukraine continues to develop, the impact of this conflict could result in a wide range of possible scenarios for the Group, especially in relation to the import and transfer of crude oil and natural gas.

As a result of the invasion, the EU, EU member states, Canada, Japan, the United Kingdom and the United States, among others, have announced and implemented sanctions on Russia and Belarus and export-control measure packages. The introduction of further sanctions could result in adverse reactions from Russia, such as the disruption of the oil and natural gas supplies to the EU and increased oil and gas prices.

In addition, the Russia-Ukraine conflict has upended energy markets, triggering price volatility and energy insecurity across the world. Countries are dynamically reshaping their energy strategies to reflect new geopolitical realities and to address the need for affordable energy. Since 2021, energy prices have reached record highs and the conflict has exacerbated the situation with Russia using its energy exports as a political tool. The prices of various commodities and products (e.g. aluminium and steel) have also increased significantly. Increases in energy and raw material prices and rising financing costs affect the Group's profitability and financing needs. In addition, the war caused disruptions to crude oil supply in Hungary. See "A sustained disruption in crude oil supply could have a material adverse effect on the Group's business" above.

Management of the Group is constantly monitoring the impacts on the Group of the changed business and economic circumstances. Both escalation and prolongation of the Russia-Ukraine war pose a heightened risk of the discontinuation of crude oil and natural gas supply from Russia, which would have a material adverse impact on the Group's operations and financial conditions.

Conflicts in the Middle East have created significant uncertainty and financial market volatility and could have adverse effects on the European and global economies

The Middle East has been subject to a period of sustained and intensifying geopolitical instability. Since October 2023, the region has witnessed a significant escalation in hostilities involving multiple state and non-state actors, including Israel, Hamas and Iran. These hostilities have encompassed direct military confrontations between Israel and Iran as well as material disruptions to key international shipping routes. Whilst a multilateral agreement relating to the Gaza conflict entered into force in October 2025 and contributed to a temporary de-escalation of tensions, hostilities resumed in February 2026 following a coordinated military operation conducted by Israel and the United States targeting various sites within Iran, resulting in a further material escalation of the regional conflicts.

These developments have contributed to, among other things, significant increases in global oil and gas prices and elevated levels of volatility across global capital markets. The prevailing instability has also had an adverse impact on investor sentiment, particularly in respect of markets and issuers with exposure to the Middle East and to Central and Eastern Europe.

Given the Group's operations and the nature of its business, any prolongation or further escalation of these conflicts could have a material adverse effect on the Group's business, financial condition, results of operations and prospects. There can be no assurance that the situation will not deteriorate further or that additional geopolitical events will not arise, any of which could exacerbate these risks.

Changes to the legal and regulatory framework in which the Group operates could negatively impact its business, financial condition and results of operations

The Group is exposed to legal and regulatory risk from directives and regulations applicable to the Group's businesses in the jurisdictions in which it operates, and, in particular, with respect to EU law in the fields of energy, environment and climate change in addition to national law as well as national and local legislation and regulation.

Any changes in such laws and regulations which affect Group facilities may involve further investment obligations, higher operating costs and decommissioning liabilities. Changes to the regulatory framework in which the Group operates could also result in additional unbudgeted capital expenditure and/or incremental operating costs, which could impact upon profitability and revenue generation. In particular, climate related legislation may have a negative impact on the financial performance of the oil and gas sector (including the Issuer's operations).

The activities of the Group's Upstream Segment are subject to extensive regulation by the host governments of EU and non-EU countries, including, but not limited to:

1. petroleum law;
2. energy policies;
3. regulatory systems; and
4. government contracts (e.g. concession agreements, production sharing agreements, risk sharing contracts, joint venture agreements, service contracts and hybrid contracts).

Any unexpected changes in regulatory requirements, licence terms, size and structure of royalties, tariffs, export duties, taxation policies, dedicated sales contracts with government dedicated entities at regulated prices, other trade barriers and price exchange controls in any countries where the Group has operations could limit those operations, make the distribution of products difficult and have a negative effect on the Group's business, financial condition and results of operations which in turn may affect the Issuer's ability to fulfil its obligations under the Bonds.

Changes to the legal and regulatory framework applicable to Public Interest Asset Management Foundations in Hungary may affect the ownership structure of the Issuer

Among the current largest shareholders of the Issuer there are three KEKVAs established by the Hungarian State holding together 30.49 per cent. of the shares at in the Issuer. A public interest asset management foundation is a private law entity established for the purpose of managing state assets and performing public interest functions, including, inter alia, activities in the fields of education, culture and healthcare. Under the current Hungarian legal and regulatory environment following the 2026 Hungarian parliamentary elections, the legal status and regulatory framework applicable to public interest asset management foundations may be subject to material change. In particular, the new Hungarian government has signalled its intention to review and potentially reform the KEKVA framework, inter alia, in the context of the ongoing dispute between Hungary and the European Commission concerning issues related to university autonomy. Any such reform could result in changes to the governance, legal status or permitted activities of these foundations or could lead to a reallocation or transfer of the assets currently held by them, including their shares in the Issuer.

There can be no assurance as to the timing, scope or outcome of any such legislative or regulatory changes. If implemented, such changes could materially alter the ownership structure of the Issuer, affect the exercise of voting rights currently held by these foundations, or give rise to uncertainty regarding the continued holding of shares in the Issuer by these entities. Any resulting changes in the ownership structure could affect the strategy or direction of the Issuer.

Governments may appropriate the Group's assets

Due to the nature of the business of the Group and the characteristics of certain jurisdictions in which the Group has operations, the Group faces the potential risk of government intervention via nationalisation, expropriation or cancellation of contract rights. Moreover, in some jurisdictions in which the Group operates, the legal framework relating to the Group's various business lines may change at any time, including changes that could include the nationalisation of individual lines of business. This may have a negative effect on the Group's business, financial condition and results of operations which in turn may affect the Issuer's ability to fulfil its obligations under the Bonds.

Some of the Group's operations are in unstable political environments that have less developed legal systems and procedural safeguards and that may not be sufficient to protect the Group's interests. Certain operations may also be exposed to the risk of terrorism and security risks

As at the date of this Information Note, some of the Group's oil and gas assets and supply sources are located outside of Europe in countries with developing economies and/or unstable political environments. In particular, the Group has assets in Kazakhstan, the Kurdistan Region of Iraq, Syria, Libya, Pakistan, Egypt, Russia and Azerbaijan where the Group's operations are exposed to economic and political risks, including an uncertain legislative framework, political interference in business, nationalisation, civil strife, social instability and acts of war or terrorism. In certain countries in which the Group operates, it may be difficult to repatriate investment and profits.

If political instability and acts of terrorism in one or more of the countries in which the Group operates continues or heightens, it could have a negative impact on the Group's business, results of operations and financial condition which in turn may affect the Issuer's ability to fulfil its obligations under the Bonds.

Sales prices of hydrocarbon and refined products are regulated in certain countries, which exposes the Group to regulatory and price risks

In certain countries where the Group operates, sales prices of hydrocarbon and refined products are fully or partially regulated (including price caps and similar price regulatory measures), which exposes the Group to regulatory and price risks if the regulated prices are lowered below market levels.

These regulations (including the price caps) and any amendment to them could restrict the Group's ability to fully adjust its wholesale and retail prices in accordance with market prices, in which case fluctuations in the prices of commodities and currency exchange rates could reduce the Group's ability to pass on supply costs to customers in time to prevent losses. This could have a material adverse effect on the Group's business, financial condition and results of operations which in turn may affect the Issuer's ability to fulfil its obligations under the Bonds.

A failure to obtain or maintain licences and permits could prevent the Group from carrying on its activities

The industry in which the Group operates is regulated and its operations require it to obtain and maintain licences and/or permits.

Each of the Group's licences could be suspended or terminated by the relevant licensing authorities if the Group is deemed to have violated its terms or repeatedly violated the applicable requirements of law or, alternatively, not renewed after expiration. Licences are re-tendered before expiry and no assurance can be given that the Group will win the re-tendering process. The termination or modification of, or failure, for any reason, to renew these licences in a timely manner could have a material adverse effect on the Group's business, financial condition and results of operations as the Group will not be able to carry on some or all of its current activities.

Non-compliance with regulations concerning anti-corruption and anti-bribery, anti-money laundering and counter-terrorism financing, and economic and trade sanctions could expose the Group to legal liability and negatively affect its reputation and business, financial condition, results of operations and prospects.

The Group is subject to compliance risks with respect to applicable laws and regulations concerning anti-corruption and anti-bribery, counter-terrorism financing and anti-money laundering and economic and trade sanctions. Non-compliance with any such laws and regulations could expose the Group to investigations, criminal and/or civil liability, in particular the breach of financing agreements, and substantial fines, the occurrence of any of which would have a material adverse effect on the Group's reputation, business, financial condition, results of operations and prospects. Although the Group has implemented policies with respect to such matters, there can be no assurance that such policies will be effective or prevent the Group from being exposed to violations of such laws and regulations. In particular, U.S., European and other international economic or financial sanctions are often broad in scope and have in the past been imposed on companies engaging in certain types of transactions with specified countries, companies or individuals. Neither the Group nor any of its affiliates is currently the target of any economic or financial sanctions administered by the United States, the United Kingdom, the EU, or any other sanctions authority. In the United States, the OFAC administers economic and financial sanctions. As the Group is not a U.S. Sanctions Target, OFAC regulations do not prohibit U.S. persons from investing in, or otherwise engaging in business with the Group. However, investors investing in the Group may incur the risk of indirect contact with U.S. Sanctions Targets to the extent that the Group, directly or indirectly, engages in business with, or operations in, U.S. Sanctions Targets.

The war in Ukraine has led to an unprecedented expansion of sanction programs by the United States, the EU and the United Kingdom, among others, against Russia, Belarus, the Crimea Region of Ukraine as well as other non-government controlled areas of Ukraine, the so-called Donetsk People's Republic and the so-called Luhansk People's Republic. These broad-sweeping sanctions included, inter alia, blocking sanctions against state-owned and private Russian financial institutions (and their subsequent removal from the Society for Worldwide Interbank Financial Telecommunication payment system) and certain Russian businesses in addition to blocking sanctions against Russian and Belarusian individuals and of Russia's foreign currency reserves.

In June 2022, the Council of the EU adopted the sixth package of sanctions against Russia that, amongst other restrictions, prohibits the purchase, import or transfer of seaborne crude oil and certain petroleum products from Russia to the EU. The restrictions applied from 5 December 2022 for crude oil and from 5 February 2023 for other refined petroleum products. A temporary exception was and still is applied for imports of crude oil by pipeline into those EU member states that, due to their geographic situation, suffer from a specific dependence on Russian supplies and have no viable alternative options.

On 22 October 2025, the U.S. Treasury Department imposed sanctions on Lukoil and its subsidiaries in which the company holds a 50 per cent. or greater stake, pursuant to Executive Order 14024. The latter category included one of the Issuer's trading partners, Swiss-based Litasco SA, from which the Issuer sourced approximately 40-50 per cent. of its Russian crude oil imports. From December 2025, Lukoil as parent company will fulfil the contractual obligations instead of Litasco. Following the agreement in principle reached at the meeting between the Hungarian and U.S. governments in Washington on 7 November 2025, the U.S. sanctions authority granted Hungary a partial (one-year) exemption from U.S. sanctions affecting Lukoil.

In addition to Russian oil, the Group is exposed to Russia mainly through the Upstream Segment company, BaiTex Llc. and related receivables. Payments made by BaiTex Llc. to the Group in 2023, 2024 and 2025 are held on a restricted bank account as a result of counter-sanctions of Russia, therefore the amount is not available for general use (with the exception of certain immaterial payments transferred in line with the applicable rules).

Other companies of the Group who are active in the Russian Federation include MOL-LUB Russ LLC and MOL-RUSS LLC. MOL holds a 51 per cent. stake in RMB-RUSS LLC, a joint venture formed in 2021 with Taneco, a joint stock company which is a subsidiary of the Russian oil and gas firm PJSC Tatneft. The aim of the joint venture was to produce chemically stabilized rubber-modified bitumen, however, due to the applicable sanctions, the Issuer is not involved in the joint venture's operations and plans to divest its stake. As of the date of this Information Note, the sale process is ongoing. These companies (including the joint venture) are not subject to any sanctions and the Group has the necessary internal rules and processes to monitor and ensure their compliance with the applicable sanctions.

The overall EBITDA contribution and asset size of the Group companies active in the Russian Federation is less than 1 per cent. compared to total Group EBITDA and assets. The Russian pipeline crude purchases are long term agreements with business partners in respect of which due diligence checks related to sanctions were completed by the Issuer and the related transactions are in compliance with sanctions.

Should current sanctions be extended, they may preclude the Group from performing parts of its operations in Russia or conducting business with Russian entities that the Group is currently able to do business with. The Group may even be forced to cease operations in Russia or refrain from transactions with Russian entities or to amend existing contractual terms which could have a material adverse effect on the Group's business, financial condition and results of operations and may affect the Issuer's ability to fulfil its obligations under the Bonds.

Syria is no longer subject to comprehensive international sanctions following the significant lifting of EU, US, and UK measures in 2025, with remaining restrictions narrowly targeting individuals linked to the former Assad regime, as well as military, dual-use, and internal repression-related goods. In this context, INA is legally permitted to resume its project activities in Syria, and ongoing negotiations with the Syrian side are focused on defining the terms for re-engagement and future operations. This evolving regulatory environment, combined with the reduced justification for maintaining the longstanding Force Majeure status, supports the strategic reassessment of INA's position and the structured return to project implementation.

In 2008, INA signed a service contract for the exploration and development of the Moghan 2 Block (the Service Contract) with the National Iranian Oil Company which required INA to carry out exploration, appraisal and development of oil and gas resources. The exploration phase of the Service Contract expired on 31 May 2012 without INA fulfilling all of its contractual obligations. As at 31 December 2025, other provisions at INA level relate to a provision for contractual liability regarding investments in Iran in the amount of EUR 44,789 thousand (in 2024: EUR 48,025 thousand). Under the contractual liability, INA has committed to spending certain funds. Since the activities in Iran have been discontinued, the difference between the contractual liability and actual funds spent was recognised as a provision. The remaining amount relates to the provision for maritime domain concessions as well as the provision for sediment and non-pumpable inventories in the total amount of EUR 11,700 thousand (in 2024: EUR 13,984 thousand).

While the Group currently complies with all relevant sanctions regulations, EU and U.S. sanctions are constantly in flux and may change rapidly and substantially. Any violations or perceived violations of existing or future UN, U.S., EU or UK sanctions could subject the Group to penalties that could have a material adverse effect on the Group's ability to obtain goods and services in the international markets, access the international capital or bank debt markets and cause reputational damage. Any of the above implications could have a material adverse effect on the Group's business, financial condition and results of operations which in turn may affect the Issuer's ability to fulfil its obligations under the Bonds.

The Group's operations and financial performance may be adversely affected by sanctions imposed on certain entities with which the Group has business relationships

The Group operates in various countries and regions that are subject to sanctions imposed by the United States, the European Union, the United Kingdom and other jurisdictions. These sanctions target certain entities and individuals, and may restrict or prohibit the Group's ability to engage in transactions with such entities.

In particular, the Group purchases pipeline crude oil from the resources of different Russian producers via the Friendship-II pipeline which is operated by Transneft (see "A sustained disruption in crude oil supply could have a material adverse effect on the Group's business"). Although the EU has imposed sanctions on Transneft, such sanctions do not apply to the import or transport of oil and gas into Europe. In addition to Russian oil, the Group is exposed to Russia mainly through BaiTex Llc. and related receivables. Since 2022 BaiTex Llc. has been required to make all payments to the Group to a special blocked bank account as a result of Russian counter-sanctions (with the exception of certain immaterial payments transferred in line with the applicable rules). The Group impaired the full value of the investment, receivables and the balance of the restricted bank account in 2023, 2024 and 2025.

The scope, duration and enforcement of such sanctions may change from time to time and may have significant implications for the Group's business relationships. The Group monitors the development and implications of sanctions and seeks to comply with all applicable laws and regulations in the jurisdictions where it operates. However, no assurance can be given that the Group will not be adversely affected by sanctions or by dealings with entities who may become subject to sanctions in the future. Any such adverse effects could have a material adverse effect on the Group's business, financial condition, results of operations and prospects which in turn may affect the Issuer's ability to fulfil its obligations under the Bonds.

The Group is subject to risks relating to fraud, bribery and corruption

The Group currently does business in a number of jurisdictions that have been allocated low scores on Transparency International's Corruption Perceptions Index 2025 such as Angola, Russia, Ukraine, Iraq, Pakistan and Kazakhstan. Doing business in international developing markets brings inherent risks associated with the enforcement of obligations, fraud, bribery and corruption. In addition, the oil and gas industries have historically been shown to be vulnerable to corrupt or unethical practices.

While the Group maintains an anti-fraud framework, comprehensive internal regulations and a whistleblowing system (including preventive, detective and corrective capabilities), it may not be possible for the Group to detect or prevent every instance of fraud, bribery and corruption in every jurisdiction in which its employees, agents, sub-contractors or joint venture partners are located. If any such fraudulent activity is detected, the Group may be subject to civil and criminal penalties and to reputational damage. Instances of fraud, bribery and corruption, and violations of laws and regulations in the jurisdictions in which the Group operates could have a material adverse effect on its business, financial condition and results of operations. In addition, as a result of the Group's business conduct and specialised anti-fraud framework and other safeguards, there is a risk that the Group could be at a commercial disadvantage and may fail to secure contracts within jurisdictions that have been allocated a low score on Transparency International's "Corruption Perceptions Index" to the benefit of other companies who may not have or comply with such anti-corruption safeguards.

Litigation and regulatory proceedings may have a material adverse effect on the Group's business, financial condition and results of operations

The Group is subject to numerous risks relating to legal and regulatory proceedings in which a Group company is, as at the date of this Information Note, a party or that could develop in the future.

Although the Group does not, as at the date of this Information Note, expect litigation or regulatory proceedings to which it is a party to have a material adverse effect on its financial condition and results of operations, no assurance can be given that the ultimate outcome of such legal proceedings or regulatory proceedings and any consequential legal proceedings or regulatory proceedings thereafter will not have a material adverse effect on its results of operations or financial condition which in turn may affect the Issuer's ability to fulfil its obligations under the Bonds.

The waste management concession agreement with the Hungarian state exposes the Group to regulatory, political and contractual risks that could adversely affect its operations, financial performance and reputation.

The Issuer was announced as a winner of the Hungarian state concession tender covering municipal waste management services for a period of 35 years. Waste management forms part of the Issuer's Circular Economy Segment. The concession agreement is subject to the laws and regulations of Hungary, which may change in ways that are unfavourable or unpredictable for the Issuer, or that impose additional costs, obligations or liabilities on the Issuer. The concession agreement also depends on the continued cooperation and performance of the Hungarian state and its agencies, which may be influenced by political, economic or social factors beyond the Issuer's control. Any disputes, delays, breaches, terminations or renegotiations of the concession agreement could result in significant losses, penalties, litigation or reputational damage for the Issuer. The Issuer also has to comply with strict environmental, health and safety, and quality standards that may increase its operational costs, expose it to potential liabilities or claims, or require significant investments in equipment, facilities or personnel.

Extra taxes imposed on the Group may adversely affect the Group's financial results and operations

On 24 May 2022, the Hungarian Government announced the Windfall Tax. The Windfall Tax is part of a broader fiscal policy of the Hungarian Government, which may introduce further measures that could adversely affect the Group's business, financial condition and results of operations.

Ongoing tax, customs, excise and other financial inspections may have a material adverse effect on the Group's business, financial condition and results of operations

As at the date of this Information Note, there are a number of tax, customs, excise and other financial inspections, investigations and challenges on-going in relation to various Group entities (including INA and its subsidiaries). The Issuer considers these inspections, investigations and challenges to be in the ordinary course of its business. However, at this stage the Issuer is unable to accurately predict the outcome of these procedures.

Any violation by the Issuer of applicable law and regulation could lead to the imposition of substantial fines, sanctions or other measures, based on the findings of such tax, customs, excise and other financial inspections, investigations and challenges and plaintiffs could seek compensation for any alleged damages that arose as a result of any sanctioned conduct. Any of the foregoing could have, individually or in the aggregate, a material adverse effect on the Group's business, results of operations or financial condition and may affect the Issuer's ability to fulfil its obligations under the Bonds.

Risk of imposition of a financial penalty on the Issuer by the KNF

Pursuant to Article 176a of the Act on Trading, in the event that the Issuer fails to perform or improperly performs the obligations arising from Article 5 of the Act on Trading, i.e., obligations relating to the dematerialisation and registration of securities, the KNF may impose a financial penalty on the Issuer of up to PLN 1,000,000.

3.5 Risks related to the Group's strategy

The Group's organic growth and transformation strategy involves uncertainties and operating risks, including project execution risk

The Group's current and future projects, including field development, exploration, the modernisation of refinery and particularly petrochemical assets, the logistics network, the construction of power plants and new businesses (e.g. waste management) may be delayed or less profitable than expected or unsuccessful for numerous reasons, including cost overruns, lower product prices, higher raw material or energy prices, equipment shortages, limited availability of contractors and subcontractors, mechanical difficulties and financial distress situations. These projects will also often require the use of new and advanced technologies which are expensive to develop, purchase and implement and may not function as expected. In addition, the implementation may take more time than reasonably expected and severe weather conditions could impede the Group's development and/or exploration operations and plans for its fields and facilities. Delays in delivery of the Group's strategic projects may adversely affect the Group's expected market position and therefore deteriorate the return or recovery of the investment. All of these factors may materially and adversely affect the Group's business, financial condition or results of operations which in turn may affect the Issuer's ability to fulfil its obligations under the Bonds.

The Group's expansion strategy and potential restructurings expose the Group to risks

The Group is an international oil and gas business with a diversified European portfolio as well as several investments in oil and gas activities outside Europe. As part of its strategy, the Group may in the future seek additional opportunities to further expand its integrated portfolio and to restructure or cease its existing operations where it is appropriate. The expansion of the Group's business and portfolio is integral to the Group's success. The Group assesses each investment it makes on the basis of extensive financial, operational and market analysis, which may include certain assumptions.

The Group's ability to continue to grow and to penetrate new markets will depend on a number of factors. These include, among others, the availability of internal and external financing, the availability of suitable third-party business partners able to share risk and costs as well as existing and future competition. The Group might not be able to implement its growth strategy or successfully manage previous acquisitions and further its growth and this may have a material adverse effect on the Group's business, results of operations or financial condition which in turn may affect the Issuer's ability to fulfil its obligations under the Bonds. In addition, difficulties in integration of newly acquired businesses may also have a negative impact on the Group's business, financial condition and results of operations.

A failure to implement planned efficiency programmes may adversely affect the Group's business, prospects, financial condition or results of operations

The Group has initiated a number of efficiency programmes. The success of such programmes depends on the operational availability of production units (e.g. fewer shutdowns give more room to profit from energy efficiency improvement actions). Beyond the targeted effect of internal measures, success is highly dependent on business specific external factors such as market trends, volatile crude oil and energy prices, changing regional supply and demand and product margins which may severely impact the Downstream Segment's results. A failure to implement these initiatives may have an adverse effect on the Group's business, prospects, financial condition or results of operations which in turn may affect the Issuer's ability to fulfil its obligations under the Bonds.

The Group faces increasing competition which decreases profitability

The Group faces increasing competitive pressures in all areas of its business, both from local as well as global oil and gas companies. There is growing competition for access to low-cost crude oil and natural gas reserves as well as exploration and production licences.

Automotive fuel is subject to stringent quality requirements and liberalised products within the EU. The Group's market position in Hungary, the Slovak Republic, Croatia, Austria, the Czech Republic, Slovenia, Bosnia-Herzegovina, Poland and Romania is subject to competition from other regional refiners and wholesale distributors. The Group's retail competitors include multinational, Western European and regional oil companies as well as hypermarkets, many of which have significantly greater financial resources than the Group. If these companies are able to increase their market share at the Group's expense then there could be a material adverse effect on the Group's business, results of operations or financial condition.

Other oil derivatives (chemical, petrochemical and lubricant products) have wider and thus more competitive markets when compared to automotive fuels, as they are easily transportable over greater distances.

The Group's petrochemical business faces strong competition from the U.S. and the Middle East, as well as from Western European producers who struggle to export to China where newly-built petrochemical units have significant cost advantages due to lower feedstock prices, especially in commodity polyolefins or economies of scales and/or their domestic market size.

If the Group is unable to effectively compete in any of the markets in which it operates, this may have a material adverse effect on the Group's business, results of operations or financial condition which in turn may affect the Issuer's ability to fulfil its obligations under the Bonds.

Inadequate contingency plans or crisis management may have a material adverse effect on the Group's business

Contingency plans are required to continue or recover operations following a disruption or incident. Inability to restore or replace critical capacity to an agreed level within an agreed timeframe would prolong the impact of any disruption. Crisis management plans and capability are essential to deal with emergencies at every level and area of the Group's operations to respond in an appropriate manner to either an external or internal crisis. Inadequacies in this regard could severely affect the Group's business and operations and consequently may have a material adverse effect on the Group's business, results of operations and financial condition. This in turn may affect the Issuer's ability to fulfil its obligations under the Bonds.

3.6 Risks related to the Group's financing and business

The Group may encounter difficulties in financing its capital expenditure plans

The Group's businesses require significant capital expenditures, including in refining and petrochemicals, exploration and development, production, transportation and gas transmission and retail network expansion and to meet its obligations under environmental laws and regulations. The Group intends to finance these capital expenditures in line with its operating cashflow. However, significant merger and acquisition transactions may increase the indebtedness of the Group and if expiring debt cannot be fully refinanced in the future, the Group may lose its flexibility in relation to financing arrangements, created by its currently strong liquidity position and may need to adjust its capital expenditure plans.

The Group depends on regular access to bank finance and occasional access to the debt capital markets to meet a significant portion of its financing requirements. However, the global banking sector and capital markets have experienced significant disruptions since the financial crisis in 2008 that have been characterised by reductions in liquidity, greater volatility, general widening of spreads and, in some cases, lack of price transparency in money and capital markets interest rates. The same happened as a consequence of the COVID-19 pandemic and is happening as a consequence of the Russia-Ukraine war and the conflicts in the Middle East which have had an impact on the Group's global capital expenditure plans. As a result, many lenders have reduced or ceased providing funding to borrowers, both in the short term or even permanently and there has been a general increase in the cost of borrowing from private-sector borrowers in such periods. The continuation or worsening of such market disruption and potential deterioration of the Group's credit rating may adversely impact the Group's ability to borrow in the credit or debt capital markets and may increase the cost of funding. If the Group is unable to refinance its maturing loan facilities or bonds or is only able to do so at a significantly higher cost, it may have to reduce planned capital expenditure, which could materially and adversely affect its business, results of operations or financial condition which in turn may affect the Issuer's ability to fulfil its obligations under the Bonds.

Fluctuations in currency exchange rates could increase the Group's costs and reduce its margins

The Group is exposed to foreign exchange risk. The Group buys raw materials predominantly in USD and sells products based on formulas which are linked to USD and EUR quoted market prices. Therefore, the Group's EUR and USD based income exceeds its costs in those currencies, while as a result of the currency composition of its operational cost structure, the Group's costs in HUF and other local currencies exceed its local currency-based income. The Group is also exposed to foreign exchange risk arising from loans denominated in foreign currencies. As at 31 December 2025, the currency composition of the Group's gross debt was 70 per cent. in EUR, 19 per cent. in HUF and 11 per cent. in other currencies (namely USD, PLN, RON, CZK and other) compared with the previous year where, as of 31 December 2024, the currency composition of the Group's gross debt was 62 per cent. in EUR, 19 per cent. in HUF, and 19 per cent. in other currencies (namely USD, PLN, RON, CZK and other). Long term FX risk is managed by harmonising the FX structure of debt with the FX structure of the Group's business operations in order to counterbalance the business' FX exposure (i.e. a natural hedge) while considering other factors (e.g. available funding sources, debt pricing conditions, FX volatility). To manage short term FX exposure, the daily liquidity position is forecasted based on the net position calculated on Group level and then managed through dealing activity.

The Group is exposed to trade credit risk

The Group provides services and products with deferred payment terms to some customers. The upper credit limit of the deferred payment terms is supported by the Group's internal and external evaluation. A severe economic and financial crisis, however, may result in sudden deterioration of the customers' creditworthiness and the valuations used as a base for the credit limit becoming outdated rapidly resulting in non-payment by such customers and financial losses for the Group which may, in turn, affect the ability of the Issuer to meet its payment obligations under the Bonds.

The Group is exposed to joint venture (partner) risk

The Group currently conducts a number of projects through joint ventures with other companies and may in the future enter into further joint ventures as a means of conducting its business. The Group cannot fully control the operations and the assets of its joint ventures, nor can it make major decisions with respect to its joint ventures unless its joint venture partners (or the majority of them in accordance with the specific voting rights) agree. Accordingly, although the Group has the ability to influence or veto decisions with respect to some of its joint ventures, it is generally not in a position to make unilateral decisions. This may constrain the ability of the Group's joint ventures to take action. Furthermore, one or more of the Group's joint venture partners may unilaterally decide to withdraw from a joint venture, which may result in the Group making a loss or being unable to realise the expected gains.

Furthermore, a joint venture partner's insolvency, liquidation or a deterioration in such joint venture partner's financial position may result in delays in the project or additional cost or financial commitment for the Group which, in turn, may impact the ability of the Issuer to meet its obligations under the Bonds.

3.7 Factors which are material for the purpose of assessing the market risks associated with Bonds issued under the Programme

Risk of changes to the base rate applicable to floating rate Bonds

The interest rate on the Bonds has been determined as a floating rate based on the WIBOR reference rate. In the period up to the maturity date of the Bonds, significant changes to the base rate may occur. A decrease in the base rate applicable to the Bonds may result in a decrease in the yield on the Bonds. The Benchmark Regulation introduces rules affecting the calculation, publication and use of reference benchmarks, including WIBOR. As a consequence of the Benchmark Regulation, certain reference benchmarks, including WIBOR, may cease to be published or their calculation methodology may change, which may have an adverse effect on the interest rate applicable to the Bonds and, consequently, on payments under the Bonds. Given that the interest rate on the Bonds is based on the WIBOR reference benchmark, any change to the methodology of calculation of, or cessation of publication of, WIBOR may adversely affect the interest rate and payments due to Bondholders under the Bonds.

There is a risk that in the period up to the maturity date of the Bonds, significant changes to the base rate may occur, including the replacement of WIBOR with a new benchmark. A change in the methodology or calculation principles of the WIBOR base rate, or the replacement of WIBOR with another benchmark, may result in a change to the level of interest on the Bonds, which may also lead to a decrease in the yield on, and the returns expected by Bondholders from, the Bonds.

In July 2022, the Working Group was established to determine the benchmark that will replace WIBOR. On 28 September 2022 the Working Group announced a roadmap for phasing out WIBOR and replacing it with a new benchmark, WIRON. On 10 December 2024 the Working Group announced that WIRON will no longer be the benchmark replacing WIBOR. Instead, WIBOR will be replaced with another benchmark, POLSTR. The official determination of the POLSTR Interest Rate Index and the POLSTR Compound Indices Family began on 2 June 2025.

On 18 May 2026, GPW Benchmark S.A., the administrator of WIBOR, issued a statement according to which the last day of WIBOR publication will be 31 December 2036. On the same day, the KNF issued a statement that it expects supervised entities to cease issuing financial instruments referencing WIBOR by 31 December 2026. Therefore, from 1 January 2027, WIBOR should be used only for the run-off of exposures entered into before that date.

Such a change of reference benchmark may result in a decrease in the interest rate on the Bonds for which the original reference benchmark was WIBOR, as the value of the new reference benchmark may be lower than the value of WIBOR. Furthermore, in accordance with the Terms and Conditions, in the event that a reference benchmark other than WIBOR is applied, the Issuer will be entitled to amend the Terms and Conditions to the extent necessary to adapt the Terms and Conditions to the method of determining the interest rate based on the new reference benchmark. Such amendment to the Terms and Conditions does not require the consent of the Bondholders.

If such an amendment to the Terms and Conditions is required, the Issuer will implement it on the basis of the guidelines of the Working Group in force at the relevant time, as well as those of the entities operating the capital and money market infrastructure in Poland. Given the complexity of the process of replacing WIBOR with other reference benchmarks, the Issuer cannot exclude that the solutions introduced by the Issuer into the Terms and Conditions may differ from those adopted by other capital market participants.

Risk related to the Issuer's centre of main interests

The Issuer is a company duly incorporated under Hungarian law and having its registered office in Hungary. The Issuer's centre of main interests is in Hungary and, consequently, any main insolvency proceedings concerning the Issuer will be governed by Hungarian law. The obligation to initiate insolvency proceedings against the Issuer in Hungary may result in additional legal and operational costs for the Bondholders. The Bonds are governed by Polish law, and Polish courts shall have exclusive jurisdiction to resolve any disputes relating to the Bonds. However, any notices addressed to the Issuer (including for the purposes of enforcement proceedings or other court proceedings) will be served at the address of its registered office, which is located in Hungary. Accordingly, any enforcement actions against the Issuer may be delayed or prolonged and may involve additional costs.

Risk of delay in payments under the Bonds and risk of non-payment of amounts due under the Bonds

The performance of the Issuer's obligations under the Bonds consists of the redemption of the Bonds by payment of their nominal value and the payment of interest. Such payments may not be made, or may be delayed, if, as a result of a deterioration in the Issuer's financial condition, the Issuer does not have sufficient funds available at the relevant due date. The Issuer's ability to service its obligations under the Bonds may deteriorate in the event of an excessive increase in the level of its indebtedness or a material deterioration in its financial results. A failure by the Issuer to redeem the Bonds on their maturity date may result in the declaration of bankruptcy of the Issuer or the opening of restructuring proceedings, which in consequence means that an investor faces the risk of loss of all or part of the funds invested in the Bonds.

Interest may also not be paid as a result of attachment of the Issuer's funds in enforcement proceedings conducted against the Issuer or due to technical problems. In addition, the Terms and Conditions contain a number of covenants, the breach of which entitles the Bondholder (subject to the fulfilment of certain actions and the completion of the relevant procedure) to demand early redemption of the Bonds by the Issuer. In particular, there is a risk that, in the event of a demand for early redemption of the Bonds, the Issuer may not have sufficient funds to satisfy such demand for early redemption.

In the event of the Issuer's insolvency and in the event of its bankruptcy or restructuring, Bondholders may not recover all or part of the funds invested in the Bonds.

The Bonds do not constitute a bank deposit and are not covered by any deposit guarantee scheme. Investors should be particularly aware of the high risk associated with investing in corporate bonds and the consequent need to maintain appropriate investment diversification. Investing in corporate bonds carries the risk of loss of 100 per cent. of the capital invested.

Risk of early redemption as a result of a breach of the Terms and Conditions or the occurrence of a statutory ground for acceleration of the Bonds

In the event of the occurrence of an event of default under the Terms and Conditions, the Bondholder may demand early redemption of the Bonds. In addition, in the event of the occurrence of events specified in the Act on Bonds, the Bonds may become subject to immediate redemption. In such a case, the Bonds will be redeemed prior to their original maturity date and the Issuer may be exposed to the risk of a loss of liquidity.

Risk of early redemption of the Bonds at the option of the Issuer

The early redemption option may reduce the market value of the Bonds. During the period in which the Issuer has the right to redeem the Bonds early, the market value of the Bonds should generally not increase significantly above the price at which the Issuer may effect their early redemption. Such a situation may also arise in the period preceding the period in which the Issuer has the right to redeem the Bonds early. It is expected that the Issuer will exercise its right to early redemption of the Bonds in circumstances where its potential financing costs are lower than the interest rate on the Bonds. During such period, the investor may not be able to invest the proceeds of early redemption of the Bonds in a manner that would provide a rate of return equal to the rate of return on the Bonds being the subject of early redemption. As at the date of this Information Note, no circumstances have arisen pursuant to which the Issuer could exercise its right to early redemption of the Bonds, other than as described in the Terms and Conditions.

Risk related to the invalidity of the Bonds

If the Bonds are invalid or affected by legal defects, this may limit or preclude the rights of creditors to pursue claims under the Bonds and, accordingly, the Bondholder may lose all or part of the funds invested in the acquisition of the Bonds.

Risk of suspension of the introduction of bonds to trading in the Alternative Trading System

Pursuant to Article 78(2) of the Act on Trading, where so required by the safety of trading in the Alternative Trading System or where the interests of investors are endangered, Warsaw Stock Exchange shall, at the request of the KNF, suspend the introduction of specified financial instruments to trading in the alternative trading system or suspend the commencement of trading in such financial instruments for a period not exceeding 10 days.

Risk of suspension of trading in the bonds in the Alternative Trading System

Pursuant to Article 78(3) of the Act on Trading, where trading in specified financial instruments is conducted in circumstances indicating a possible threat to the proper functioning of the Alternative Trading System or to the safety of trading conducted in the alternative trading system, or an infringement of investors' interests, the KNF may demand that the Warsaw Stock Exchange suspends trading in such financial instruments. Pursuant to Article 78(3a) of the Act on Trading, in the demand referred to in the preceding sentence, the KNF may specify a date until which the suspension of trading shall remain in force. Such date may be extended where there are justified concerns that, on the day of its expiry, the grounds referred to in the preceding sentence will continue to exist. Pursuant to Article 78(3b) of the Act on Trading, the KNF shall revoke a decision containing the demand referred to above where, following its issuance, it determines that the grounds of a threat to the proper functioning of the alternative trading system or to the safety of trading conducted in such alternative trading system, or of an infringement of investors' interests, no longer exist. Pursuant to Article 78(4a) of the Act on Trading, the Warsaw Stock Exchange may decide to suspend or exclude securities from trading where such instruments have ceased to satisfy the conditions applicable in such market, provided that such action will not cause a significant infringement of investors' interests or a threat to the proper functioning of the market. The Warsaw Stock Exchange shall notify the KNF of the decision to suspend or exclude financial instruments from trading and shall make such information publicly available.

The Warsaw Stock Exchange, pursuant to §11 of the Rules of the Alternative Trading System, may suspend trading in financial instruments:

- (a) at the request of the Issuer;
- (b) if it determines that the interests and safety of trading participants so require;
- (c) if the Issuer is in breach of the rules applicable in the Alternative Trading System.

When suspending trading in financial instruments, the Warsaw Stock Exchange may specify a date until which the suspension of trading shall remain in force. Such date may be extended, as the case may be, at the request of the Issuer, or where, in the opinion of the Warsaw Stock Exchange, there are justified concerns that, on the date of its expiry, the grounds referred to in items (b) or (c) above will continue to exist.

In cases specified by applicable law, the Warsaw Stock Exchange shall suspend trading in financial instruments for the period resulting from such provisions or specified in the decision of the competent authority.

The Warsaw Stock Exchange shall suspend trading in financial instruments immediately upon obtaining information on the suspension of trading in such instruments on a regulated market or in the Alternative Trading System, where such suspension is related to a suspicion of the use of inside information, unlawful disclosure of inside information, market manipulation or a suspected breach of the obligation to publish inside information concerning the Issuer or a financial instrument in breach of Articles 7 and 17 of the MAR Regulation, unless such suspension could cause serious harm to investors' interests or the proper functioning of the market.

Risk of delisting of the Bonds

Pursuant to Article 78(4) of the Act on Trading, where trading in specified financial instruments materially endangers the proper functioning of the alternative trading system or the safety of trading conducted in the alternative trading system, or causes an infringement of investors' interests, Warsaw Stock Exchange shall, at the request of the KNF, delist such financial instruments. The Warsaw Stock Exchange, pursuant to § 12 of the Rules of the Alternative Trading System, may delist:

- (a) at the request of the Issuer, subject to the possibility of making the decision in this respect conditional upon the Issuer's fulfilment of additional conditions;
- (b) if it determines that the safety of trading or the interests of its participants so require;
- (c) if the Issuer persistently breaches the rules applicable in the Alternative Trading System;
- (d) as a result of the opening of the Issuer's liquidation;
- (e) as a result of a decision on the merger of the Issuer with another entity, its demerger or transformation, provided that the exclusion of financial instruments from trading may take effect, as the case may be, no earlier than on the date of the merger, the date of the demerger (spin-off) or the date of the transformation.

Furthermore, the Warsaw Stock Exchange shall delist financial instruments:

- (a) in cases specified by applicable law;
- (b) where the transferability of such instruments has become restricted;
- (c) in the event of the cancellation of dematerialisation of such instruments;
- (d) upon a court order declaring the Issuer's bankruptcy becoming final, or a court order dismissing the petition for bankruptcy of the Issuer on the grounds that its assets are insufficient or sufficient only to satisfy the costs of the proceedings, or a court order discontinuing the Issuer's bankruptcy proceedings on the grounds that its assets are insufficient or sufficient only to satisfy the costs of the proceedings, becoming final.

Prior to making a decision to delist financial instruments and until such exclusion takes effect, the Warsaw Stock Exchange may suspend trading in such financial instruments.

Pursuant to §12a of the Rules of the Alternative Trading System:

- (a) The Warsaw Stock Exchange, when making a decision to delist financial instruments, shall be obliged to provide reasons for such decision and to deliver a copy thereof, together with the reasons, to the Issuer without delay, by fax or electronically to the last e-mail address of such entity notified to the Warsaw Stock Exchange.

- (b) Within 10 business days of the date of delivery of the decision regarding the delisting to the Issuer, the Issuer may file an application for reconsideration of the matter. Such application may be filed in paper form, bearing handwritten signatures, or electronically in PDF format, bearing qualified electronic signatures or trusted signatures. An application filed in paper form shall be deemed filed upon receipt of the original by the office of the Warsaw Stock Exchange, and an application filed electronically shall be deemed filed upon its delivery to at least one of the following e-mail addresses: gpw@gpw.pl, emitenci@gpw.pl.
- (c) The Warsaw Stock Exchange shall be obliged to consider the application for reconsideration without delay, but no later than within 30 business days of the date of its filing, having first obtained the opinion of the Exchange Council. Where additional information, declarations or documents are required, the time limit for the consideration of such application shall commence on the date of delivery of the required information. Where the Warsaw Stock Exchange determines that the application for reconsideration is fully justified, it may revoke or amend the contested resolution without obtaining the opinion of the Exchange Council.
- (d) The decision on delisting of the financial instrument shall become enforceable upon the expiry of five business days after the expiry of the time limit for filing the application for reconsideration and, where such application has been filed, upon the expiry of five business days from the date of its consideration and confirmation of the exclusion decision. Until the expiry of such time limits, trading in the relevant financial instruments shall be suspended.
- (e) A subsequent application for the introduction of the same financial instruments to trading in the alternative trading system may not be filed earlier than 12 months from the date of delivery of the resolution on their exclusion from trading, or, in the event of filing an application for reconsideration, not earlier than 12 months from the date of delivery to the Issuer of the resolution upholding the exclusion decision. This provision shall apply accordingly to other financial instruments of the relevant Issuer.

The provisions of items (a) – (e) above shall not apply in the cases referred to in § 12(1)(1a), unless the exclusion from trading has been made conditional upon the Issuer's fulfilment of additional conditions, or in the cases referred to in § 12(2)(1)–(4) of the Rules of the Alternative Trading System.

Risk of imposition of a financial penalty on the Issuer by Warsaw Stock Exchange

Pursuant to §17c of the Rules of the Alternative Trading System, the Warsaw Stock Exchange may, where the Issuer fails to comply with the rules or regulations applicable in the alternative trading system, or fails to perform or improperly performs the obligations specified in Chapter V of the Rules of the Alternative Trading System, in particular the obligations specified in §15a and §15b, or §17–§17b, depending on the degree and scope of the breach or non-compliance, reprimand the Issuer or impose a financial penalty of up to PLN 50,000.

Where the Issuer fails to comply with a penalty imposed upon it, or notwithstanding the imposition of such penalty continues to fail to comply with the rules or regulations applicable in the alternative trading system, or fails to perform or improperly performs the obligations specified in Chapter V of the Rules of the Alternative Trading System, or fails to perform the obligations imposed upon it pursuant to § 17c(2) of the Rules of the Alternative Trading System, the Warsaw Stock Exchange may impose a financial penalty on the Issuer, provided that such penalty, together with the penalty imposed pursuant to § 17c(1)(2) of the Rules of the Alternative Trading System, may not exceed PLN 50,000.

The Warsaw Stock Exchange may decide to impose a financial penalty irrespective of any decision, taken on the basis of the relevant provisions of the Rules of the Alternative Trading System, to suspend trading in the relevant financial instruments or to exclude them from trading.

 - a) 819,424,824 pieces registered ordinary shares of the series "A" with a par value of HUF 125 each, and 578 pieces of registered ordinary shares of the series "C" with a par value of HUF 1,001 each, issued at a price of HUF 6,000 each, in exchange for in kind contribution and providing identical rights to the holders of such shares, and
 - b) one (1) piece registered voting preference share of the series "B" with a par value of HUF 1,000 that entitles the holder thereof to preferential rights as specified in the present Articles of Association.

8. SHARES AND SHARE REGISTER

- 8.1. The shares shall be produced in dematerialised form.
- 8.2. The Board of Directors of the Company shall keep a share register, by share categories of the holders, of registered shares and general proxies, indicating the name (corporate name), address (seat), shareholding ratio of such shareholders or shareholders' proxies and indicating the series, number, and par value of the shares, as well as the date of registration, and in events specified under Article 8.6 the composition of the shareholder group to which the shareholder belongs in accordance with Article 10.1.1 and 10.1.2, and any other data that may be required to meet the requirements specified by law or these Articles of Association. The Board of Directors is entitled to commission a third person to keep the share register.

- 8.3. Shareholders' proxies may exercise the shareholders' rights only in respect of the shares registered on the security account kept with such shareholders' proxy, or in respect of the registered shares deposited at such proxy. The depository appointed by the Company issuing certificates of deposit on the Company's shares under foreign law abroad (See Article 10.1.1.) shall be registered in the share register as shareholders' proxy (nominee), if such depository requests so and if it provides for a power of attorney in compliance with the law applicable for the issuance of certificates of deposit and the deposit agreement. Any other registration into the share register shall only be made if the shareholder's proxy has deposited one copy of the letter of proxy, prepared as a public document or as a private document with full probative power, at the Company. Such letter of proxy shall unambiguously state the fact that the shareholder, issuing the letter of proxy is not subject to any limitation specified under Articles 10.1.1 and 10.1.2 of these Articles of Association, in the absence of that the registration into the share register may be refused.
- 8.4. The Board of Directors shall refuse the registration of any shareholder into the share register, if such shareholder fails to comply with the requirements specified by these Articles of Association.

- 8.6. In the event the conditions described in the previous sentence are met, the shareholder shall simultaneously report the composition of the shareholders' group in accordance with the provisions specified in Articles 10.1.1 and 10.1.2. In case the shareholder fails to comply with or performs incorrectly the obligation on reporting the composition of the shareholder group defined in the previous sentence, or in case there is a reasonable ground to assume that a shareholder made false representation regarding the composition of the shareholders' group, its voting right shall be suspended (and any time further on as well) and the shareholder shall be prevented from exercising it until full compliance with said requirements. Further, the shareholder shall, for the request of the Board of Directors, immediately identify the ultimate beneficial owner with respect to the shares owned by such shareholder. In case the shareholder fails to comply with the above request or in case there is a reasonable ground to assume that a shareholder made false representation to the Board of Directors, the shareholder's voting right shall be suspended and shall be prevented from exercising it until full compliance with said requirements. The compliance with the declaring and reporting obligations defined in this Article does not affect the reporting and announcing obligations of the shareholders under the legal regulations applicable to the acquisition of influence.

- 8.7. The Company shall regard and treat depositories, commissioned by the Company, issuing certificates of deposit on the Company's shares under foreign law abroad (See Article 10.1.1.), according to the registration in the share register, as shareholders' proxies (nominees) or as shareholders, subject to the condition that such depositories shall cause the holders of certificates of deposit to comply with the provisions of the present Articles of Association applicable to shareholders.

All relevant restrictions specified in these Articles of Association applicable to shareholders shall be appropriately applied to the holders of certificates of deposit issued on the Company's shares abroad on behalf of the Company.

- 10.1.2. The definition "shareholder group" with respect to a shareholder shall mean such shareholder and:

If the shareholder fails to notify or accurately notify the Company pursuant to the provisions here above, he will be obliged to reimburse all damages and costs incurred as a consequence of exercising voting rights in excess of the 10% limitation by the shareholder or the shareholders' group to which the shareholder belongs.

- 10.3. In the event any shareholders' group, as defined above, holds more than 10% of the voting rights, the total voting rights of the shareholders' group shall be reduced to 10% by disregarding the voting rights of the shares (or the relevant portion of those) most recently acquired by the shareholder group.
- 10.4. The "yes" vote of the holder of "B" series of share is required for decisions at the general meeting on issues enlisted in Article 12.4. In all other matters, in accordance with the nominal value of the "B" series share, such share entitles its holder for eight vote.

- a.) Unless otherwise provided by law, the general meeting shall be competent to decide on the reduction of share capital.

The share capital may be increased by:

- the issuance of new shares;
- the transfer of funds from the equity capital in excess of share capital;
- issuance of employee shares;
- conditional increase of share capital, through the issuance of convertible or equity bonds.

The general meeting's resolution on the increase of share capital shall be considered valid if the holders of each affected types or classes of shares separately grant their explicit consent to the increase of the share capital in the manner specified in the Article 12.10 of the Articles of Association. In respect of the explicit consent those shareholders shall be considered affected who hold the same types or series of shares to be issued, furthermore the shareholders whose rights attached to any series of shares (in particular, but not limited to the voting rights, eligibility for dividends) change disadvantageously by the increase of share capital.

If the shareholder or bond-owner does not submit a declaration within the time specified in the public announcement on the exercise of his/her preference right, he/she shall be deemed not to exercise his/her preference right. Unless the resolution of the general meeting prescribes otherwise, preference right shall be granted – in this sequence – first to shareholders of the Company (within that first to the holders of shares belonging to the same series of issue) and then to the holders of convertible bonds and in the same order of rank to the holders of bonds with subscription right. Unless otherwise provided for in the decision of the general meeting, if shareholders or bond-owners with the same preference right intend to subscribe or take over more shares than shares to be issued within the course of the capital increase, they can exercise their preference right in the proportion of the par value of their shares or bonds.

The general meeting may exclude the preference right pertaining to subscribe or take over shares based on the written proposal of Board of Directors. The general meeting shall discuss the proposal on exclusion of the preference right together with the proposal pertaining to the capital increase but it shall render separate decisions on them. In addition to the content required by law the proposal on exclusion of the preference right shall also contain the reason of the capital increase, in case of private placement the introductions of persons entitled to take over the shares, and the modification of the voting ratio of the existing shareholders as a result of the capital increase.

- d.) W tym celu:

- (a) skonsolidowana wartość trwałego kapitału własnego lub EBITDA ZPP podmiotu zależnego Emitenta zostanie ustalona na podstawie jego ostatniego rocznego sprawozdania finansowego (w ujęciu skonsolidowanym, jeśli posiada on podmioty zależne), na podstawie którego sporządzone zostało ostatnie roczne zbadane skonsolidowane sprawozdanie finansowe Emitenta;
- (b) jeśli podmiot zależny Emitenta stanie się członkiem Grupy po dacie, na którą zostało sporządzone ostatnie roczne zbadane skonsolidowane sprawozdanie finansowe Emitenta, wówczas skonsolidowana wartość trwałego kapitału własnego lub EBITDA ZPP tego podmiotu zależnego Emitenta zostanie ustalona na podstawie jego ostatniego rocznego sprawozdania finansowego;

Przy czym:

- (ii) w przypadku sporu, czy spółka jest czy nie jest Istotnym Podmiotem Zależnym, Obligatariusze będą mogli bez dalszego badania lub dowodu polegać na treści zaświadczenia wydanego przez biegłych rewidentów Emitenta i dostarczonego Obligatariuszom stwierdzającego, że zdaniem tychże biegłych rewidentów podmiot zależny Emitenta jest lub nie jest bądź był lub nie był w jakimkolwiek określonym czasie lub w jakimkolwiek określonym okresie Istotnym Podmiotem Zależnym, a jeśli Obligatariusze będą polegać na tym zaświadczeniu, w braku oczywistego błędu będzie ono ostateczne i wiążące dla wszystkich stron.

6. OPROCENTOWANIE

Sposób oprocentowania Obligacji wskazano w Suplemencie Emisyjnym.

6.1 Zmienna Stopa Procentowa

- (a) Naliczanie odsetek

Odsetki od każdej Obligacji oprocentowanej według zmiennej Stopy Procentowej naliczane są dla danego Okresu Odsetkowego i płatne w każdym Dniu Płatności Odsetek.

- (b) Ustalenie zmiennej Stopy Procentowej

- (i) Stopa Procentowa dla danego Okresu Odsetkowego będzie równa sumie Stopy Bazowej i Marży
- (ii) W każdym Dniu Ustalenia Stopy Procentowej Agent Kalkulacyjny ustali wysokość Stopy Bazowej. Stopa Bazowa będzie stanowić WIBOR dla Właściwego Okresu Zapadalności w Dniu Ustalenia Stopy Procentowej.

- (iii) Jeśli Stopa Bazowa nie może być ustalona w Dniu Ustalenia Stopy Procentowej zgodnie z powyższym, wówczas Stopa Bazowa zostanie ustalona na poziomie ostatniego dostępnego WIBOR dla Właściwego Okresu Zapadalności, chyba że jest to związane z Ogłoszeniem Końca Publikacji, lub gdy nastąpi Brak Zezwolenia.
- (iv) Jeśli Stopa Bazowa nie może być ustalona w Dniu Ustalenia Stopy Procentowej w związku z Ogłoszeniem Końca Publikacji WIBOR lub gdy nastąpi Brak Zezwolenia dotyczący WIBOR, wówczas WIBOR zostanie zastąpiony Wskaźnikiem Alternatywnym skorygowanym o Korektę (jeśli będzie miała zastosowanie) ustaloną przez Emitenta, zgodnie z jedną z następujących metod w kolejności od (A) do (D) poniżej:
 - (A) Wskaźnikiem Alternatywnym jest wskaźnik referencyjny, który został wskazany do stosowania zamiast danego wskaźnika referencyjnego w ustawie lub rozporządzeniu;
 - (B) Wskaźnikiem Alternatywnym jest wskaźnik referencyjny, który rekomendowało do stosowania zamiast danego wskaźnika referencyjnego odpowiednie ciało, grupa lub organizacja powołana w celu wskazania zamiennika dla danego wskaźnika referencyjnego lub wyznaczony przez organ państwowy lub inny organ publiczny;
 - (C) Wskaźnikiem Alternatywnym jest wskaźnik referencyjny, który rekomendowała do stosowania zamiast danego wskaźnika referencyjnego Komisja Nadzoru Finansowego; oraz
 - (D) Wskaźnikiem Alternatywnym jest stopa referencyjna wyznaczana przez Narodowy Bank Polski.
- (v) Jeśli brak dostępności stawki stosowanej do wyznaczania Stopy Bazowej będzie związany z Ogłoszeniem Końca Publikacji lub gdy nastąpi Brak Zezwolenia lub, odpowiednio, Wskaźnik Alternatywny trwale zastąpi tę stawkę, w celu wyznaczenia Stopy Bazowej. W innym przypadku stawka ta jest ponownie stosowana dla ustalenia Stopy Bazowej od Dnia Ustalenia Stopy Procentowej, w którym będzie ona ponownie dostępna.
- (vi) Po ustaleniu Wskaźnika Alternatywnego Korekta zostaje ustalona zgodnie z następującymi zasadami:
 - (A) raz ustalona Korekta jest stosowana przez cały czas stosowania Wskaźnika Alternatywnego;
 - (B) jeżeli w danej metodzie ustalenia Wskaźnika Alternatywnego, o których mowa w podpunktach (iv)(A) - (iv)(C) powyżej:
 - I. Podmiot Wyznaczający wskazał Korektę – stosuje się taką Korektę;
 - II. Podmiot Wyznaczający wskazał, aby nie stosować Korekty – nie stosuje się Korekty;
 - (C) jeżeli w danej metodzie ustalenia Wskaźnika Alternatywnego, o której mowa w podpunktach (iv)(B) i (iv)(C) powyżej, Podmiot Wyznaczający nie odniósł się do Korekty lub gdy Wskaźnik Alternatywny został wyznaczony zgodnie z metodą, o której mowa w podpunkcie (iv)(D) powyżej:
 - I. Korekta jest równa historycznej medianie różnic pomiędzy zastępowanym wskaźnikiem referencyjnym oraz Wskaźnikiem Alternatywnym;
 - II. mediana różnic jest ustalana:

- za okres 60 miesięcy przed dniem, w którym zastępowany wskaźnik referencyjny przestał być publikowany (gdy nastąpiło Ogłoszenie Końca Publikacji) albo pierwszym dniem, w którym Wskaźnik Alternatywny jest stosowany (gdy zastępowany wskaźnik referencyjny nie został opublikowany, ale nie nastąpiło Ogłoszenie Końca Publikacji) albo dniem, w którym wystąpił Brak Zezwolenia;
- biorąc pod uwagę każdy dzień z badanego okresu, w którym był publikowany zarówno zastępowany wskaźnik referencyjny, jak i Wskaźnik Alternatywny.

- (vii) Procedura wyboru Wskaźnika Alternatywnego oraz ustalenia Korekty w związku z Ogłoszeniem Końca Publikacji lub Brakiem Zezwolenia jest przeprowadzana tylko raz, co oznacza, że ten sam Wskaźnik Alternatywny oraz Korekta są stosowane do obliczania odsetek także dla kolejnych Okresów Odsetkowych.
- (viii) Zmiana metody obliczania wskaźnika referencyjnego w rozumieniu Rozporządzenia BMR ogłoszona przez jego administratora, w tym zmiana uznana przez administratora za istotną zmianę, nie stanowi zmiany lub podstawy do zmiany niniejszych Warunków Emisji lub stosowania Korekty.
- (ix) W przypadku, gdy zgodnie z podpunktem (v) powyżej, Wskaźnik Alternatywny trwale zastąpi stawkę stosowaną do wyznaczenia Stopy Bazowej, postanowienia odnoszące się do Wskaźnika Alternatywnego stosuje się odpowiednio do każdego kolejnego Wskaźnika Alternatywnego oraz Korekty (jeśli ma zastosowanie).
- (x) Jeśli w wyniku wyboru Wskaźnika Alternatywnego zgodnie z podpunktem (iv) powyżej niezbędne będzie wprowadzenie zmian do niniejszych Warunków Emisji w zakresie sposobu ustalania Stopy Procentowej, w tym zmian koniecznych do dostosowania niniejszych Warunków Emisji do obowiązujących regulacji KDPW bądź GPW, Emitent wprowadzi niezbędne zmiany do niniejszych Warunków Emisji i opublikuje, w sposób wskazany w par. 12.1 (Zawiadomienia dla Obligatariuszy) poniżej, zmienioną treść niniejszych Warunków Emisji, ze wskazaniem wprowadzonych zmian. Zmiana niniejszych Warunków Emisji opisana w niniejszym podpunkcie (x) nie wymaga zgody Obligatariuszy.
- (xi) Jeżeli Stopa Bazowa jest mniejsza niż zero, dla potrzeb ustalenia Stopy Procentowej dla danego Okresu Odsetkowego przyjmuje się, że Stopa Bazowa wynosi zero.
- (xii) Emitent opublikuje na swojej stronie internetowej wybrany Wskaźnik Alternatywny oraz (po jej sporządzeniu) metodę obliczania Korekty lub opinię, że Korekta nie jest wymagana.

(c) Obliczenie kwoty odsetek

Kwota odsetek od jednej Obligacji zostanie obliczona po ustaleniu zmiennej Stopy Procentowej, poprzez pomnożenie wartości nominalnej jednej Obligacji przez zmienną Stopę Procentową, pomnożenie uzyskanego wyniku przez liczbę dni w danym Okresie Odsetkowym, podzielenie wyniku przez 365 i zaokrąglenie uzyskanego wyniku do pełnego grosza (pół grosza lub więcej będzie zaokrąglane w górę).

(d) Informacja o zmiennej Stopie Procentowej i kwocie odsetek

Na podstawie obliczeń Agenta Kalkulacyjnego Emitent opublikuje informację o ustalonej zmiennej Stopie Procentowej i kwocie odsetek na swojej stronie internetowej.

6.2 Stała Stopa Procentowa

(a) Naliczanie odsetek

Odsetki od każdej Obligacji oprocentowanej według stałej Stopy Procentowej naliczane są dla danego Okresu Odsetkowego i płatne w każdym Dniu Płatności Odsetek.

(b) Obliczenie kwoty odsetek

Kwota odsetek od jednej Obligacji zostanie obliczona poprzez pomnożenie wartości nominalnej jednej Obligacji przez stałą Stopę Procentową wskazaną w Suplemencie Emisyjnym, pomnożenie uzyskanego wyniku przez liczbę dni w danym Okresie Odsetkowym, podzielenie wyniku przez 365 i zaokrąglenie uzyskanego wyniku do pełnego grosza (pół grosza lub więcej będzie zaokrąglane w górę).

(c) Informacja o kwocie odsetek

Wysokość odsetek od jednej Obligacji oprocentowanej według stałej Stopy Procentowej płatnych w danym Dniu Płatności Odsetek jest wskazana w Suplemencie Emisyjnym.

6.3 Obligacje zerokuponowe

Obligacje zerokuponowe nie są oprocentowane.

- (b) Wszelkie płatności świadczeń z tytułu Obligacji będą dokonywane na rzecz Obligatariusza posiadającego Obligacje na koniec Dnia Ustalenia Praw.
- (c) Jeżeli dzień płatności z tytułu Obligacji przypada na dzień niebędący Dniem Roboczym, płatność na rzecz Obligatariusza nastąpi w dniu ustalonym zgodnie ze Zmodyfikowaną Konwencją Następnego Dnia Roboczego.
- (d) Z zastrzeżeniem możliwości zaliczenia wierzytelności z tytułu wykupu Obligacji na poczet ceny nabycia emitowanych przez Emitenta obligacji nowej emisji, płatności świadczeń z tytułu Obligacji będą dokonywane bez potrącenia jakichkolwiek wierzytelności Emitenta z wierzytelnościami Obligatariuszy.
- (e) Płatności z tytułu Obligacji zapisanych w ewidencji prowadzonej przez Agenta Emisji będą dokonywane za pośrednictwem Agenta Emisji na rachunki bankowe Obligatariuszy wskazane Agentowi Emisji przez Obligatariuszy.

8. PODATKI

Wszelkie płatności wartości nominalnej i odsetek z tytułu Obligacji dokonywane przez Emitenta lub w imieniu Emitenta zostaną dokonane bez potrąceń lub odliczeń z tytułu lub na poczet jakichkolwiek obecnych lub przyszłych podatków, opłat, oszacowań lub jakichkolwiek innych należności publicznoprawnych (Podatki) nakładanych lub pobieranych przez jakiekolwiek Odpowiednie Państwo lub w imieniu jakiegokolwiek Odpowiedniego Państwa, chyba że potrącenia lub odliczenia Podatków wymagają przepisy prawa. W takim przypadku Emitent zapłaci takie dodatkowe kwoty, jakie mogą być konieczne, aby kwoty netto otrzymane przez Obligatariuszy po takim potrąceniu lub odliczeniu były równe odpowiednim kwotom wartości nominalnej i odsetek, jakie w przeciwnym razie byłyby należne z tytułu Obligacji, gdyby nie doszło do takiego potrącenia lub odliczenia, z tym że żadne takie dodatkowe kwoty nie będą płatne z tytułu Obligacji:

- (a) jeśli odpowiedni Obligatariusz jest zobowiązany do zapłaty Podatków z tytułu Obligacji, ponieważ ten Obligatariusz jest powiązany z Odpowiednim Państwem w sposób inny niż samo posiadanie Obligacji; lub
- (b) które zostały przedstawione do wykupu w Odpowiednim Państwie; lub
- (c) które zostały przedstawione do wykupu przez lub w imieniu Obligatariusza, który nie byłby zobowiązany do dokonania lub nie podlegałby obowiązkowi dokonania potrącenia lub odliczenia składając certyfikat rezydencji podatkowej potwierdzający brak rezydencji podatkowej lub składając do odpowiedniego organu podatkowego inny wniosek o zwolnienie z obowiązku dokonania potrącenia lub odliczenia; lub
- (d) które zostały przedstawione do wykupu po upływie ponad 30 dni od Odpowiedniego Dnia (zdefiniowanego poniżej), z wyjątkiem sytuacji, w której Obligatariusz byłby uprawniony do otrzymania dodatkowej kwoty w przypadku przedstawienia ich do wykupu w tym trzydziestym dniu, zakładając, że dzień ten był Dniem Roboczym.

W niniejszym par. 8 (Podatki):

Odpowiedni Dzień oznacza dzień, w którym taka płatność staje się wymagalna po raz pierwszy, z tym wyjątkiem, że jeżeli pełna kwota należnych środków pieniężnych nie została należycie otrzymana przez Obligatariuszy najpóźniej w jej dacie wymagalności, oznacza dzień, w którym pełna kwota takich środków została otrzymana, a zawiadomienie o tym fakcie zostało należycie przekazane Obligatariuszom zgodnie z postanowieniami par. 12 (Zawiadomienia).

Odpowiednie Państwo oznacza Węgry lub jakąkolwiek ich jednostkę podziału administracyjnego lub jakikolwiek ich organ władzy z uprawnieniem do nakładania podatków.

Z zastrzeżeniem par. 10 (Wcześniejszy wykup Obligacji z inicjatywy Emitenta), Emitent wykupi wszystkie Obligacje według ich wartości nominalnej w Dniu Wykupu.

10. WCZEŚNIEJSZY WYKUP OBLIGACJI Z INICJATYWY EMITENTA

Emitent zawiadomi Obligatariuszy o wcześniejszym wykupie Obligacji z wyprzedzeniem co najmniej 30 (trzydziestu) dni przed Dniem Płatności Odsetek, w którym Emitent ma dokonać wcześniejszego wykupu Obligacji.

 - (ii) w przypadku Obligacji oprocentowanych, kwoty odsetek naliczonych od dnia rozpoczęcia Okresu Odsetkowego (włącznie) do Dnia Płatności Odsetek, w którym Emitent dokona wcześniejszego wykupu Obligacji (bez tego dnia); oraz
 - (iii) Premii.

11. WCZEŚNIEJSZY WYKUP OBLIGACJI Z INICJATYWY OBLIGATARIUSZY

11.1 Uprawnienia ustawowe

Obligatariusz może żądać wykupu Obligacji również w przypadku niezawinionego przez Emitenta opóźnienia nie krótszego niż trzy dni.

The method of interest accrual is specified in the Issue Supplement.

6.1 Floating Interest Rate

(a) Interest accrual

Interest on each Bond bearing interest at the floating Interest Rate will accrue for the given Interest Period and will be payable on each Interest Payment Date.

(b) Determining the floating Interest Rate

- (i) The Interest Rate for the given Interest Period will be the aggregate of the Base Rate and the Margin.
- (ii) The Calculation Agent will determine the Base Rate on each Interest Rate Determination Date. The Base Rate will be equal to WIBOR for the Relevant Tenor on the Interest Rate Determination Date.
- (iii) If the Base Rate may not be determined on the Interest Rate Determination Date as set out above, the Base Rate shall be determined as the last available WIBOR for the Relevant Tenor, unless this is due to the Publication Cessation Announcement or Lack of Authorisation.
- (iv) If the Base Rate may not be determined on the Interest Rate Determination Date due to the Publication Cessation Announcement regarding WIBOR or Lack of Authorisation regarding WIBOR, it will be replaced with the Alternative Benchmark Interest Rate adjusted by the Adjustment (if applicable) determined by the Issuer in accordance with one of the following methods in the order from item (A) to item (D) below:
 - (A) the Alternative Benchmark Interest Rate is the benchmark designated to be applied instead of a given benchmark in an act of law (in Polish: ustawa) or a regulation (in Polish: rozporządzenie);
 - (B) the Alternative Benchmark Interest Rate is the benchmark that the body, group or organisation set up to designate a replacement for a given benchmark, based on legal provisions or otherwise by a government authority or other public authority;
 - (C) the Alternative Benchmark Interest Rate is the benchmark that the Polish Financial Supervision Authority (Komisja Nadzoru Finansowego) recommended using instead of the given benchmark; and
 - (D) the Alternative Benchmark Interest Rate is the reference rate of the National Bank of Poland (Narodowy Bank Polski).
- (v) If the rate used to designate the Base Rate is unavailable due to the Publication Cessation Announcement or due to the Lack of Authorisation, or, respectively, the Alternative Benchmark Interest Rate shall replace that rate permanently, for the purpose of determining the Base Rate. Otherwise that rate shall be re-applied to determine the Base Rate as of the Interest Rate Determination Date on which that rate will become available again.

- (vi) Once the Alternative Benchmark Interest Rate has been determined, the Adjustment shall be determined as follows:
 - (A) once determined, the Adjustment shall be applied throughout the entire period of time when the Alternative Benchmark Interest Rate is applied;
 - (B) if in the given method of determining the Alternative Benchmark Interest Rate referred to in paragraphs (iv)(A) – (iv)(C) above:
 - I. the Designating Authority designates the Adjustment – such Adjustment shall be applied;
 - II. the Designating Authority designates that the Adjustment should not be applied – the Adjustment shall not be applied;
 - (C) if in the given method of determining the Alternative Benchmark Interest Rate referred to in paragraph (iv)(B) and paragraph (iv)(C) above the Designating Authority does not refer to the Adjustment or if the Alternative Benchmark Interest Rate is designated using the method referred to in paragraph (iv)(D) above:
 - I. the Adjustment is equal to the historic median of the differences between the replaced benchmark and the Alternative Benchmark Interest Rate;
 - II. the median of the differences shall be determined:
 - for the period of 60 months before the day when the replaced benchmark ceased to be published (if the Publication Cessation Announcement had been made) or the first day when the Alternative Benchmark Interest Rate is applied (when the replaced benchmark had not been published but the Publication Cessation Announcement was not made) or the day when the Lack of Authorisation occurred;
 - taking into account each day in the tested period when both the replaced benchmark and the Alternative Benchmark Interest Rate were published.
- (vii) The procedure of selecting the Alternative Benchmark Interest Rate and determining the Adjustment in connection with the Publication Cessation Announcement or the Lack of Authorisation shall be carried out only once i.e. the same Alternative Benchmark Interest Rate and the same Adjustment shall be applied for calculating interest also for the successive Interest Periods.
- (viii) Changing the method of calculating a benchmark within the meaning of the Benchmark Regulation announced by its administrator, including a change the administrator deems to be a material change, shall not be an amendment to or the reason for amending these Terms and Conditions or for applying the Adjustment.
- (ix) If, under subparagraph (v) above, the Alternative Benchmark Interest Rate permanently replaces the rate applied to determine the Base Rate, the provisions with respect to the Alternative Benchmark Interest Rate shall be applied accordingly to each next Alternative Benchmark Interest Rate and the Adjustment (if applicable).

- (x) If the Alternative Benchmark Interest Rate is selected in accordance with subparagraph (iv) above and as a result these Terms and Conditions must be amended as regards the method of determining the Interest Rate, including in order to adjust these Terms and Conditions to the then prevailing regulations of KDPW or GPW, the Issuer shall amend these Terms and Conditions accordingly and publish, in accordance with Clause 12.1 (Notices to the Bondholders) below, these amended Terms and Conditions, with the relevant amendments indicated. Amending these Terms and Conditions as set out in this subparagraph (x) shall not require the consent of the Bondholders.
- (xi) If the Base Rate is less than zero, then such the Base Rate for the purpose of determining the Interest Rate for the given Interest Period shall be deemed to be zero.
- (xii) The Issuer shall publish on its website the selected Alternative Benchmark Interest Rate and (once it is calculated) the method of calculating the Adjustment or its opinion that the Adjustment is not necessary.

(c) Calculating the amount of interest

The amount of interest on one Bond shall be calculated following the determination of the variable Interest Rate by multiplying the principal amount of a Bond by the floating Interest Rate, multiplying the product thereof by the number of days in the given Interest Period, dividing the product by 365 and rounding the resultant figure to the nearest grosz (half a grosz or more being rounded upwards).

(d) Notification of the floating Interest Rate and the amount of interest

The Issuer shall, based on the calculation of the Calculation Agent, publish the determined floating Interest Rate and the amount of interest on its website.

6.2 Fixed Interest Rate

(a) Interest accrual

Interest on each Bond bearing interest at a fixed Interest Rate shall accrue for the given Interest Period and will be payable on each Interest Payment Date.

(b) Calculating the amount of interest

The amount of interest on one Bond shall be calculated by multiplying the principal amount of a Bond by the fixed Interest Rate specified in the Issue Supplement, multiplying the product thereof by the number of days in the given Interest Period, dividing the product by 365 and rounding the resultant figure to the nearest grosz (half a grosz or more being rounded upwards).

(c) Notification of the amount of interest

The amount of interest on one Bond bearing interest at the fixed Interest Rate payable on the given Interest Payment Date will be set out in the Issue Supplement.

6.3 Zero-coupon Bonds

- (b) All payments under the Bonds will only be made to the Bondholder holding the Bonds as at the end of the Record Date.
- (c) If the date on which any amount payable under the Bonds is to be paid is not a Business Day, such amount will be paid to the Bondholder on the date determined in accordance with the Modified Following Business Day Convention.
- (d) Except for applying the claims to receive the proceeds of redemption of the Bonds towards the purchase price of the bonds of any new issue the Issuer may issue, the amounts due under the Bonds shall be paid without setting off any claims due to the Issuer with any claims due to the Bondholders.
- (e) The payments under the Bonds entered into the register kept by the Issue Agent shall be made via the Issue Agent to the Bondholders' bank accounts the Bondholders shall indicate to the Issue Agent.

In such event, the Issuer will pay such additional amounts as may be necessary in order that the net amounts received by the holders of the Bonds after such withholding or deduction shall equal the respective amounts of principal and interest which would otherwise have been receivable in respect of the Bonds in the absence of such withholding or deduction; except that no such additional amounts shall be payable with respect to any Bonds:

- (a) the holder of which is liable for Taxes in respect of such Bond by reason of the Bondholder having some connection with a Relevant Jurisdiction other than the mere holding of such Bond; or

- (c) presented for payment by or on behalf of a Bondholder who would not be liable or subject to the withholding or deduction by making a declaration of non-residence or other similar claim for exemption to the relevant tax authority; or
- (d) presented for payment more than 30 days after the Relevant Date (as defined below) except to the extent that the holder thereof would have been entitled to an additional amount on presenting the same for payment on such thirtieth day assuming that day to have been a Business Day.

As used herein:

- (a) the Relevant Date means the date on which such payment first becomes due, except that, if the full amount of the moneys payable has not been duly received by Bondholders, on or prior to such due date, it means the date on which, the full amount of such moneys having been so received, notice to that effect is duly given to the Bondholders in accordance with Clause 12 (Notices); and

- (b) Relevant Jurisdiction means Hungary or any political subdivision or any authority thereof or therein having power to tax.
